

ABSTRACT

A solution treatment apparatus of the present invention includes a diaphragm position varying mechanism configured to partly 5 vary the position of a diaphragm. According to the solution treatment apparatus of the present invention, partial positional change of the diaphragm is possible. Therefore, uniformity of solution treatment in a surface of a substrate can be effectively improved.